Mayor's Corner

"I AM OPTIMISTIC ABOUT THE FUTURE OF THE CLOSED GM POWERTRAIN PLANT."
- MAYOR JIM FOUTS

Dear Warren Residents:

The disappointing news about GM closing the 9 Mile-Mound Powertrain Plant reminded me of the July 2016 DaimlerChrysler decision to move jobs from its plant at 9 Mile-Mound in Warren to Sterling Heights. As it turned out, in January 2018, the DaimlerChrysler plant was re-tooled, and the company announced 3,500 new jobs with a $1 billion investment. That's why I am optimistic about the future of the GM Powertrain Plant. As mayor, I will be working with GM officials to use this plant to create new jobs. Incidentally, the plant was renovated not too long ago to create a better working environment for employees.

How do we encourage new jobs to come to our city? By creating a business-friendly environment. An example of this positive attitude is reflected in a letter I received from a vice-president of an international corporation that decided to move its corporate headquarters from Rochester Hills to Warren. Here are excerpts from his letter to me:

"Once we found the perfect building, I contacted the Warren Economic Development Department and arranged a meeting with Tom Bommarito. Bommarito arranged a subsequent meeting with representatives of the Planning, Zoning and Building Departments. I came away from that meeting confident that Warren was staffed with competent professionals who were more than willing to help us navigate the permitting and approval process in an efficient manner. Prior to closing on the property, our managing director flew from England to see for himself. He not only agreed with my assessment that Warren was the perfect location for our new North American headquarters, but also agreed that the City of Warren is staffed with helpful professionals who are pleasant to work with. I am pleased to report that our original assessment of the City of Warren has proven correct. I can say with absolute confidence that, when one avails oneself of the services offered by the Warren Economic Development Department, the process of relocation moves smoothly and efficiently, and we would recommend Warren to any company looking to re-locate."

The bottom line is all city officials go the extra mile for businesses to bring new jobs and business tax dollars to our city.

That's why I am very optimistic about the future of the GM Powertrain Plant.

James R. Fouts

Warren Mayor

P.S.

GM has transferred 3,000 engineers to the Tech Center from Pontiac and promised 3,500 new jobs in its Tech Center expansion.

Cadillac to Move Headquarters to Warren

General Motors Company is moving its Cadillac brand headquarters from New York City back to Warren, to an office tower formerly occupied by the advertising agency Campbell Ewald, directly across the street from the company's global engineering epicenter.

The move will place the Cadillac brand team closer to those responsible for the new Cadillacs, including design, engineering, purchasing and manufacturing, ensuring full integration of Cadillac's global growth strategy.

Warren Mayor Jim Fouts said he was alerted to the company's decision during a call on the morning of Sept. 26.

"This is great news for the city of Warren and for the state of Michigan," Warren Mayor Fouts said. "I think it reinforces the idea that Warren is a very business-friendly community. We go out of our way to encourage more businesses to move here. It's a great feeling to know that a few years ago when Campbell Ewald moved out, we had hoped that something better would move in."

3,000 GM Engineers Transfer to Warren Tech Center

General Motors is planning to move as many as 3,000 engineers from its Global Propulsion Systems facility in Pontiac to the GM Technical Center in Warren.

"The shift will begin before the end of this year," said Michael Albano, director of communications for GM product development.

The automaker is looking to integrate its global propulsion and vehicle engineering teams to accelerate development of zero emissions vehicles.

Moving the propulsions organization to the Tech Center will help bolster the company's engineering resources in electrification, according to Albano.

The Tech Center is a 710-acre campus that includes 38 buildings and can house over 23,000 employees. The Warren campus is bounded by Van Dyke Avenue on the east, by Mound Road on the west, by Chicago Road on the north, and by 12 Mile Road on the south.

The Tech Center has been the center of GM's engineering effort since its inauguration in 1956.

Anti-Blight Program Wins National Award

Warren's anti-blight program has been recognized by a panel of the nation's mayors for its success. Dubbed "Operation: Clean Sweep," the initiative was one of 10 municipal programs in cities with population more than 100,000 to win the City Livability Award from the U.S. Conference of Mayors. The 20 cities that won the award were chosen by an independent panel of judges selected by the Conference of Mayors.

"This is one of the most prestigious awards our city has received during my 11 years as mayor," Mayor James Fouts said. "It's especially significant because of my goal for a safer, cleaner city."

Fouts launched the program ten years ago, hoping to increase property values in the city's older neighborhoods – particularly the southern portion of the city – and to convince residents to not move. After distributing brochures, city inspectors conduct door-to-door, week-long visits in targeted neighborhoods. They look for:

- Accumulation of rubbish and debris.
- Storage of tires, wood, vehicle parts, discarded appliances, carpet and other household items.
- Illegal signs, fences and sheds.
- Rodents
- Houses and garages in need of repairs
- Vacant buildings/eyesores
- Improper storage of trash containers

Violators are given warning letters that they will be fined unless cleanup and repairs are made.

Vacant buildings are marked and cannot be occupied until permits are issued and repairs are made.

Operation: Clean Sweep, officials also tags dilapidated buildings deemed unsuitable for human habitation. Demolition is then done at the property owner's expense.

Award-Winning Anti-Blight Program Cleans Up Eyesores

Every year from April through October, city anti-blight inspectors comb commercial and residential areas targeting eyesores for cleanups. Mayor Jim Fouts initiated the sweep program and says trained inspectors go neighborhood-by-neighborhood, street-by-street, house-to-house, and business – to-business first issuing warning notices then issuing blight tickets that could include court fines up to $1000.

This family-owned jewel has slot cars, control line equipment, rockets, drones, radio control pro boats, puzzles and kits. Basically everything you would want in a hobby shop.

After Tom’s passing in 2005, his son, Matt, took over the business. Prop Shop Hobbies continues to grow in popularity and remains well known throughout the United States.

North Sails Opens in Warren

Full-service sail loft caters to diverse community of sailors.

One of the largest North Sails lofts in the country has a new home in Warren. Last fall, North Sails relocated to Warren, 24777 Forterra Drive south of 10 Mile, east of Schoenherr.

The 11,000-square-foot facility is centrally located near the I-696 and I-94 expressways and will service the area from Rochester, New York to the Michigan-Indiana border.

“We are fortunate to have a mix of every kind of sailing in Metro Detroit,” said North Sails Loft Manager Karl Kuspa. “It’s important that our customers and sales representatives can easily get to us.”

The world’s leading sailmaker sells and services sails and hosts one-design classes and seminars. North Sails customers win more one-design championships than all other sailmakers combined. Honors fitting for a company with roots in the Great Lakes State.

“I’m thrilled with our new loft centrally located in Warren,” said Kuspa. “The space enables us to do sail washing on-site and gives us an area dedicated to canvas production. These additions make us a full service loft.” Karl is a 10-time Bayview Mackinac Race winner who brings over 30 years of marine industry experience to the sales and service team.

“We know that whether our customers race or cruise, the sails are a major investment,” he said. “Well-engineered sails from refined materials mean smoother tacking and jibing, and more efficient sail handling and storage. A properly designed cruising sail will provide the widest possible steering and trimming range.”

So whether you are off to the races or cruising for relaxation, let the experts at North Sails lofts in Warren guide your next excursion.

Dear Mayor Fouts:

Thank you for your personal intervention by expediting the trimming of the city trees in front of my home. Having been on a waiting list for over a year, your help was most welcome.

Your immediate attention to my visit to your office and subsequent followup by you and then the Forestry Department was greatly appreciated. The trees have been trimmed, and again, thank you very much.

– Joe Dibucci

Mayor Fouts,

I am proud to be a citizen of Warren and way happy to receive the flyer stating our Police and Fire Departments are second to none. I am proud you are our mayor who also is second-to-none! You are the hardest working mayor this city has ever had, and I have been around a long time, 88 years in Warren. We all can be proud of your accomplishments.

- Mary Ann Derowski

Thank you again for all your support.

Mayor Fouts,

Mayor Fouts:

Thank you for taking action on my behalf. My cans were just delivered. I have been a supporter of you since your days on the City Council. I am proud to live in Warren and have you as mayor of Warren.

– Ken Martorana

Mayor Fouts:

On August 8, I sent you an email that described a “rat” problem that exists in my neighborhood. I described the ongoing problem with rats, and what I thought might be the reason for these rodents to continually visit the two backyards that abut my property line. You graciously called me to discuss the situation and assured me that you would look into the matter. Within a few days, I received phone calls from the Animal Control Department and the Warren Building Division. A representative from the Building Division came to my home and was able to see the problems as they exist. I was told that the two homes in question would have five days to rectify the problem. I’m able to tell you that the areas of concern have been cleaned up and hopefully the rats will move on looking somewhere else for food

–Tim Buckler

Dear Lori Irla:

Thank you for writing such a beautiful article on Joe and The Clockworks for the Newsbeat. The article brought in so many new customers, as well as reminded previous customers that we were still located on Old Chicago Road in Warren. Joe became a celebrity. People would bring a copy of the Newsbeat into the shop and ask him for his autograph. You did such an excellent job composing the beautifully-written article introducing Joe to the public and inviting people to explore The Clockworks, Inc. We would also like to thank you for the wonderful video you made about Joe, Mary Ann and The Clockworks. You are very professional. It was easy to work with you and your camera-man. We would be very happy to work with you in the future.

City Operations Manager Saves A Life After Vehicle Accident

Michael Richards

Water Operations Manager

The heroic efforts and life saving measures of Water Operations Manager Michael Richards and two unknown bystanders saved a young lady from a burning car after an accident occurred on Hoover just north of 10 Mile Road near Highland Street. Mr. Richards was driving home from work on Wednesday, December 12, 2018 around 5:16 p.m. when he witnessed a two-vehicle accident while driving northbound on Hoover. One of the vehicles was forced off the road, hit a tree and rolled over on its top. Mike pulled over, blocked off a lane of traffic, called 911 while running to the vehicle for assistance at which time the vehicle then burst into flames.

Mike updated 911 that the car was now on fire and a person trapped in the vehicle. The female driver was hanging upside down suspended by her seat belt. Mike and two other individuals had to force the door open and unleash the seatbelt to free the driver from the vehicle, all while the car was burning. After freeing the female driver, the car was completely engulfed in flames, leaving the female driver with only minor injuries. The heroic efforts and quick actions of Mr. Richards and the two individuals, saved this young lady’s life. We are proud of Mike risking his own life in his efforts of saving another life in extreme hazardous conditions.

A Letter from Elcometer's Vice President

Why Elcometer Chose Warren as Location for its North American Headquarters

After 35 successful years in our Rochester Hills location, it became clear that we had outgrown our facility. I was tasked with determining the best location to serve our needs for the next 35 years. The easiest choice would be to expand at our current location in Rochester Hills. Before committing to such a project, I wanted to be sure that Rochester Hills was indeed the best location for our needs and the needs of our customers. After some serious analysis, we narrowed our search to three areas: Houston (our satellite office there has proven to be quite successful), Miami, and Detroit. Being well-acquainted with the marketing and public relations efforts of the City of Warren, I decided to investigate further. Imagine my surprise when I found that:

- 75% of our Michigan workforce lives in Macomb County
- 40% of that workforce lives in Warren
- We have over 1400 customers located within a 15 minutes of Warren

Other determining factors in our site selection included: reasonable property taxes; stable city and county government, good public schools, and close proximity to major freeways and transportation hubs. While Rochester Hills meets most of the aforementioned criteria, it fell short in workforce availability, proximity to existing customers, and easy access to all Metro Detroit freeways and transportation hubs.

Once we found the perfect building, I contacted the Warren Economic Development Department and arranged a meeting with Tom Bommarito. After taking the time to assess our company and the scope of our project, Tom Bommarito arranged a subsequent meeting with representatives of the Planning, Zoning, & Building departments present. I came away from that meeting confident that the City of Warren was staffed with competent professionals who were more than willing to help us navigate the permitting and approval process in an efficient manner. Prior to closing on the property Michael Sellars, our managing director, flew over from England to see for himself. Mr. Sellars not only agreed with my assessment that Warren was the perfect location for our new North American headquarters, but he also agreed that the City of Warren is staffed with helpful professionals who are pleasant to work with.

Nine months later, we have applied for our occupancy permit and are awaiting zoning approval for our building signage. I am pleased to report that our original assessment of the City of Warren has proven correct. I can say with absolute confidence that, when one avails oneself of the services offered by the Warren Economic Development Department, the process of relocation moves smoothly and efficiently, and we would recommend Warren to any company looking to re-locate.

Again, I want to thank you and everyone in the City of Warren for your help in making our move as seamless as possible.
